Welcome to the University of Hertfordshire

Set across two campuses and our Bayfordbury Observatory, we're just 20 miles from London.

As an innovative, enterprising university, focused on transforming lives, we care about our staff and students and provide them with the opportunity to succeed no matter what their background.

With our heritage in Britain's pioneering aeronautical industry, we have been an innovative force in education since the early 1950s, and our focus on students' employability and transferable skills can be traced back to our aeronautical origins.

We drive economic growth through cutting-edge research, creative and innovative thinking, skills development, bespoke training, and facilities that help businesses achieve their potential. All of our activities are underpinned by our core values; we are friendly, ambitious, collegiate, enterprising, and student-focused in everything we do.

We have just under 32,000 students studying over 550 undergraduate, postgraduate and research degrees in the UK. We also have more than 6,500 students taking courses outside the UK through international partnerships and franchise arrangements.

Our teaching is delivered across seven academic schools: Creative Arts, Health and Social Work, Hertfordshire Business School, Hertfordshire Law School, Life and Medical Sciences, Physics, Engineering and Computer Science, and Social Sciences, Humanities and Education.

Our history

1952 -
1959

Hatfield Technical College

1952 saw the opening of a new Technical College in Hatfield, with HRH Prince Phillip, Duke of Edinburgh performing the opening ceremony. With its roots in Britain's pioneering aeronautical industry, the College soon established itself as an innovative force in education, awarding our first BSc (Engineering) qualifications to external students of the University of London in 1959.

1960 -

Hatfield College of Technology

In 1960, the institution was renamed Hatfield College of Technology and began to invest in computer science, buying the College's first digital computer in 1963 – a National Elliott 803B digital computer, at a cost of £24,010. In 1965, the college became recognised for 13 Honours Degree courses, including Computer Science and Civil Engineering, with BA (Hons) Business Studies coming a year later.

1969 - 1991 Hatfield Polytechnic

In 1969, the College was designated as Hatfield Polytechnic, and by 1970 had formed the best equipped and staffed Computer Centre in education. In 1975, the Polytechnic was reorganised into five schools of study and a centre for Management Studies.

1992 - Present University of Hertfordshire

Hatfield Polytechnic became The University of Hertfordshire on 29 June 1992. In 2003 the de Havilland Campus, a £120 million project, was opened by HRH Prince Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh. In 2016, he visited the campus to open the £50 million Science Building. Our Enterprise Hub was opened in 2021. Today, we have a student community of just under 32,000 on UK based programmes across our campuses.

Our vision and strategic plan

Our vision to transform lives reflects the ambition and inspiration that is central to the University. It is built on the belief that whatever your background, wherever you are from, higher education can be a transformational experience. And whoever you are, the application of university research can impact your life. We are committed to having a positive transformational impact on every member of our University community.

Students and staff contributed to the development of our strategic plan which informed our focus on transforming lives. It reflects the values of ambition and inspiration that are central to the University. Our three key themes of opportunity, community and flexibility also grew out of this engagement and reflect both what is important to the University, but also how we will approach challenges in the coming years.

The 2020-2025 strategy builds on our strengths and embeds our focus on employability, enterprise, and business partnerships. It looks at future challenges – modern technologies, the changing world of work, and increasing interconnectivity across the globe – all areas our students presented to us in 2018 as future challenges.

Education and student experience

We deliver high-quality and distinctive education that transforms lives by providing opportunities to develop students' skills for life, working in partnership with our student community, and delivering flexible education with clear career pathways.

We do this through the expertise of our academic staff who design and deliver our courses. More than 70% of our staff hold professional recognition through Fellowships of the Higher Education Academy in teaching and learning compared to 54% across the sector.

We are proud of our 14 Principal Fellows and 80 Senior Fellows of the HEA, and our 10 National Teaching Fellows and 22 Professors and Associate Professors in Teaching and Learning.

Our Widening Access work targets primary- and secondary-aged learners, while our Student Success work supports learners currently studying at the University. Students are selected based upon where the data indicates gaps in equality of opportunity in relation to access, success or progression.

We are proud of our strong record in increasing access and participation at Herts. This is evident in our student population and the proportion of students from underrepresented backgrounds.

“ I had such a wide variety of placements – they were all so different! My mentors were lovely, and the classes were great. I think my favourite thing though was the change I felt between my first and last placements. When I was standing in front of the whole class, teaching lessons I had planned myself, feeling confident in a way I couldn't have imagined during my first placement – that was amazing! ”

BEd (Hons) Primary, 2021

Research

Our research transforms lives and addresses fundamental global and societal challenges.

The University has made the biggest jump in research impact results across the higher education sector, according to the recent 2021 Research Excellence Framework (REF) assessment released in May 2022.

We are ranked in the top 25% nationally at 32nd, the highest position for a post-92 university, and a huge rise of 61 places compared to the previous REF in 2014, the biggest rise of any university.

Highlighting the real-world benefits to wider society, 90% of our research was classified as having ‘outstanding’ (4*) or ‘very considerable’ (3*) impact. In certain subject areas this was even higher, with Psychology obtaining a 100% 4* research impact rating.

Held every 6-7 years, REF is a nationwide assessment of the quality and impact of research at UK higher education institutions, based on evidence submissions that detail research outputs, real-world impact and benefits, and the institution’s research environment.

Research culture at the University is defined by a strong spirit of enquiry, innovation and enterprise, and feeds into teaching and learning to enrich our students’ experience.

We collaborate on inter-disciplinary projects not only with our colleagues, but also with international agencies, industry, the public sector, and other universities around the world. Our partnerships always have the shared aim of improving people’s lives.

From monitoring air quality to protect public health, to enhancing health in care homes and communities during the pandemic, our research has impact.

The work of an expert team of researchers from the University of Hertfordshire has been used to fundamentally improve how care homes and the NHS work together. By the end of 2020, the national Framework for Enhanced Health in Care Homes had been rolled out nationally to cover around 11,300 care homes and 410,000 care home residents.

Enterprise

The University is an institution with enterprise at its core. Within our University Enterprise Zone we have formed clusters of excellence that respond to regional and national demands, providing students and businesses with access to funding and specialist business start-up, innovation and growth support.

In our interactions with the wider community, we aim to foster and create a collaborative environment and entrepreneurial culture that is connected, inclusive, ethical, and inquisitive.

One of the ways we support start-ups is through our start-up challenge award - Flare Ignite. It offers student entrepreneurs the support, advice and training they need in areas like proposal writing, planning, finance and marketing, and the opportunity to win up to £3,500 to get their business idea off the ground and bring it to life.

Kim won the 2021 Flare Ignite Social Impact award. She is a budding entrepreneur who wants to improve the lives of families with children who have special educational needs and disabilities (SEND).

“ What I learnt as a student has provided the foundations for my career and I will always be grateful for the University’s support throughout my studies. It’s because of this support that I felt confident and comfortable enough to enter the Flare Ignite competition as a graduate and challenge myself to make SENDplan a reality. ”

We offer expertise in apprenticeships. Apprenticeships play a crucial role in boosting the economy and are an effective way for businesses to develop a motivated, skilled, and qualified workforce, either by upskilling existing employees or recruiting new talent. The apprentice will gain a recognised qualification while earning a salary and gaining relevant industry experience.

Global engagement

We provide international opportunities for staff and students, building a diverse community on our campus, and increasing flexible programme delivery for the overseas market.

With more than 100 international partnerships across five regions, and partnership models including franchise, dual awards, fly-in faculty, academic support, supported distance learning and recognition and articulation agreements, we are passionate about providing students around the world the opportunity to study for a University of Hertfordshire award.

We are proud to be a participant of the QE-TNE scheme. The scheme independently measures quality across the UK's Transnational Education sector and promotes continued evaluation, improvement, and collaboration on a global scale.

In 2019 we launched our largest scale transnational education partnership with a new institution, Global Academic Foundation in Egypt. Students can study a University degree in multiple subject areas, including Business, Computer Science, Engineering, Mass Communications, Pharmaceutical Science and Physiotherapy. Located in the centre of Egypt's new administrative capital New Capital City, 20km east of Cairo, our campus is one of the first institutions to open in New Capital – a purpose-built capital city the size of Singapore.

“ After studying law I took a role in recruitment where I met the founder of a boutique real estate firm and ended up coming to Hong Kong in 2015.

I learnt a tremendous amount when studying law. Besides the obvious academic studies, we had so many opportunities to get involved with extra-curricular activities including mooting, debating, trips to Inns of Court and much more. It was a great experience which gave me the confidence to speak in public, how to research and shape an argument and analytical skills. It gave me a basic knowledge of contract and employment law which have been useful in the operational side of running a business. ”

Twanika is currently a barrister practising in both Criminal and Family Law. She started her own law firm in 2018 – Alcindor Law, and qualified as an Attorney-at-Law in Jamaica.

“ I chose to study at the University because of its reputation for law study. The life-size court building, library resources and the number of graduates that go on to have successful careers in law were also very attractive.

During my LLM studies I was afforded the opportunity to Marshall the then Resident Judge at St Albans Crown Court, which gave me invaluable work experience and assisted greatly in me obtaining a full scholarship for my further post-graduate studies.

My future career plans and ambitions involve continuing to build my reputation as an excellent trial advocate both in the UK and in the Caribbean. I hope one day to be appointed Queen's Counsel. ”

University of Hertfordshire Law Court named after Dr Grace Ononiwu CBE

We are proud of the renaming of our Law Court Building in honour of Dr Grace Ononiwu CBE our alumna and patron of the University of Hertfordshire's Law Clinic. At the official renaming event, Dr Grace Ononiwu was appointed Visiting Professor of the Law School.

The building's new name is the Grace Ononiwu Law Court Building and is in recognition of Grace's outstanding contribution to the legal and justice system, including her ongoing work promoting legal education.

The unveiling coincides with the building's 10th anniversary. It is home to the award-winning Hertfordshire Law Clinic, which provides free legal advice to the local community, and a full-scale replica crown court with a public gallery.

“ I am so proud to be recognised by the University of Hertfordshire and associated with one of the most diverse and inclusive Law Schools in the country. This building symbolises the start of my professional journey and its doors will remain wedged open for all future aspiring lawyers regardless of background or circumstance. Thank you for all of the support, it's truly appreciated. ”

Dr Grace Ononiwu CBE

The first university to launch new barrister courses since 1997

We have been authorised by the Bar Standards Board (BSB) to provide barrister training, the first time a university has received approval in nearly 25 years.

One of only 10 universities in the UK offering this training, we deliver two vocational programmes, the PgDL Bar Practice and LLM Bar Practice.

Our bar programmes provide flexible and accessible training, delivered by current and former barristers, industry professionals and leading researchers. Students have the opportunity to gain invaluable, real-world experience during their course, including working for the Hertfordshire Law Clinic and alongside our industry partners.

Digital bar practice has become more common in courts across the country, particularly during the pandemic. To ensure students have the right skills and experience when they graduate, our in-person teaching is supported by digital training resources, making use of the latest technology and our law facilities. Students practice their trial advocacy skills in the Law School's full-scale replica crown court, under the supervision of experienced lecturers, including two former crown court judges.

“ This is a significant achievement for the University and Hertfordshire Law School, and builds on the outstanding academic and professional legal education we have been delivering successfully for more than 45 years. ”

Penny Carey
Dean of Hertfordshire Law School

Celebrating the success of our students

Our students are passionate about improving people's lives and have received the award of Best Contribution by a Team of Students at the prestigious Law Works Student Pro Bono Awards 2022, celebrating their contribution to helping vulnerable people at risk of homelessness in Hertfordshire. The ceremony at the House of Lords recognises the best pro bono activities undertaken by law students across the country, and the positive impact their work has on the people they have assisted.

The student team were rewarded for their work with Shelter on the Court Desk Volunteer Scheme which sees student volunteers attending courts on a weekly basis to support Shelter's in-house solicitor, helping people who face losing their home as a result of housing repossession. Their voluntary work included triaging cases, helping with the completion of legal aid paperwork and facilitating communication between clients, solicitors and ushers in court.

We were also shortlisted for Best New Pro Bono Activity, for the Young Asylum Seekers Legal Advice Clinic, and Highly Commended in Best Contribution by a Law School for the impact and scope of its pro bono activities.

“ People who come to court are often extremely anxious with fear of the possible outcomes. The students help to put tenants at ease by ensuring that they are seen quicker, and they understand the process and how we can help. Over the last year the students have learnt so much about the law and have impressively enhanced their skills. It is an honour to be given this award in proper recognition of the great work by our team of students. ”

Future aspirations

Hertfordshire Law School is passionate about responding to the challenges of the changing world and supporting the local community. Expanding the services of the Law Clinic will continue to benefit the community. These services include a new family law clinic at HMP The Mount, and a new Access to Justice clinic, providing support to vulnerable young people in partnership with the charity Just for Kids. Students will also have the opportunity to count their experience in the Law Clinic as Qualifying Work Experience, helping them qualify as a solicitor more quickly under the new Solicitors Qualifying Examination (SQE) route.

In delivering flexible education to meet regional and national needs, we plan to launch a new professional policing degree to complement our existing strengths in law and criminology.

From 2023 we will also be offering the LLM Solicitors Practice, preparing students for the SQE.
